

ARIZONA KICKLETS.

There Is Always Something Doing Out West.

We notice that most of the boys are getting up their guns and getting ready to push the political campaign.

Joe Harbin left town at five minutes notice the other night, and that's why he can't write a story entitled: "How It Feels to Be Hung." Joe had got too frisky.

It is said that no less than five of the residents of Carter's Valley have been badly crippled this year by watermelons rolling down the hillsides upon them. Those people over there generally overdo things.

While we were out the other day on some real estate we own in the suburbs we killed no less than fourteen rattlesnakes and saw as many others get away. If snakeskin purses hadn't gone out of fashion we'd be shipping off a carload of skins every month.

There is nothing cheap about the gulch. Our carpenter union went on a strike for $18 a day last week. They wanted all or nothing, and at present date the three men comprising the union are playing numpety-peg with swallow-tailed coats on.

We are sorry to learn that old Colonel Brigham of Big Y Ranch ruptured himself the other day while calling us liar over the telephone. The colonel was always too strenuous.

Jim Harper of this town went over to Grass Valley the other day and claimed to be the II of Arizona. He dodged fourteen bullets, but the fifteenth lodged itself in his leg. So far as being an ass Jim is in the it.

People who drop into our sanctum during our temporary absence should not feel with any of our guns left lying around loose. They are always loaded and set to go off at the slightest pressure, and we will not hold ourselves responsible for accidents.

The editor of the Weekly Blade, published over at Whitehouse, went down to Tucson the other day to see the sights and blew out the gas when he went to bed. We always thought him the biggest jumphead in the business, but didn't want to say so for fear of making him conceited.

We don't know whether a coroner can hold an inquest on his own dead body or not, but if Joe Taylor of Lone Jack gives as any more sass we shall oblige him to try the experiment. If he can't arrive at a verdict we will do it for him.

As mayor of the town, postmaster, editor of "The Kicker," etc., we do not patronize horse racing. As Jim Helio, private individual and lover of sports, we are ready to bet even money any day that we have the fastest horse in the Territory.

We find that we were mistaken in saying last week that Jack Crawford, the proprietor of the Gem saloon, choked his mother to death in New Mexico. It was an Indian squaw whom he sent to the happy hunting grounds, and we take it all back and ask him up to drink.

We understand that Major Parker has broken loose again and is threatening to shoot us on sight. In the first place, the major hasn't the courage of a jackrabbit, and in the next, he couldn't hit the south side of a barn ten feet distant. Come along and sport with us, major. We can always spare you half an hour.

Jumbo creek, which runs through this town and is eight miles long and one foot deep, ought to be made navigable to vessels drawing ten feet of water, and our people have about concluded that if our congressmen don't do some hustling somebody will get left.

While old Jim Hewson was out on the mountains last week looking for minerals he fell asleep one day and a bear ate his boots off. As for eating Jim himself the job was too tough to tackle after the 40 years in which he has soaked up good whisky.

There is very little in a society way to report this week. Nobody has given any high teas, high coffees or high jinks, and there have been no funerals and no chance to show good clothes. In fact, no weather has kept high society in the background and in undress most of the time.

"The Kicker" never argues with a merchant as to whether advertising pays or not. If, after we have declared that it does, and have hitched our guns around to the front, the merchant still thinks that it does not, we give him up as a cuss without ambition to become rich and go away.

This isn't our week for lying about our circulation, and we will merely mention that the figures have now reached 50,000,000 and let it go at that. We have to feel in the lying mood to tell a real whopper.

The Chicago daily which says that we demand a dozen passes to every theatrical performance knows little about us. We own the only theater in town, and can sit in four boxes at once if we want to.

We have no wish to quarrel with Captain Scott, but next time he comes into the postoffice and roars around in that bull voice of his and threatens to shoot the hands off the clock we shall have to take him in hand and trim him down. As Jim Helio we can stand most anything. As postmaster we represent Uncle Sam and must maintain his dignity.

Our esteemed contemporary is out with an editorial this week in which he pledges the support of his paper to the Russian government during the war. Japan must look out for this. That pledge is almost as good as a man and a half.

We have somehow got the impression that we shall be president of the United States in 1908, and this discourages us a bit to have the "Wolf River Sentinel" call us a conceited pumpkin-head. We have our eye fixed on the bright star ahead, and if a drove of steers don't run over us there will be something doing four years from now. Meanwhile, let the galled wife or wife be to that effect. SCHOOL QUARANTINE RECORD.

Board of Health Is Sending Schools Information.

The board of health is sending out to all the principals of the public schools the names of children living in families which have been quarantined for contagion and which have not yet finished their period of probation after fumigation. These children will not be allowed to begin school.

A mistaken notion exists with most people concerning the question of attending school after quarantine. The children are not allowed to attend school as soon as their homes have been fumigated and all traces of the disease have apparently vanished. They must wait some days longer. The following is section 13 of ordinance 2190:

Section 12—it shall be unlawful for any child to attend public or any other school or public gathering within the time hereinafter designated, after the house has been fumigated in which any of the contagious diseases designated in section 1 of this ordinance may have existed. Diphtheria, 21 days; smallpox or scarlet fever, 15 days; measles, eight days.

ROWETT FOR KANSAS.

State Accountant to Represent State at St. Louis.

Charles Rowett, state accountant, has been requested to represent Kansas at the first International Congress of Professional Accountants, which will be held at St. Louis on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, September 26-28.

The congress will be attended by accountants from all over the United States and a number from Europe. The sessions will be held in the lecture hall of the palace of education on the Lord Minto and His Very Interesting Family.

LORD MINTO

The vice regal family of Canada are on an unique expedition for those of the blood royal. They are now at Qu'Appelle lakes in the Northwest Territory, where they will spend a fortnight in tents.
